What book should I read? So many of you have sent me this direct message. So I thought that today I will definitely make a video for you. So I'm going to share with you top five books that I highly recommend. Right? So first one is Atomic Habit. This you definitely have to read because discipline then you'll be able to take action. So this book is going to teach you how to be more disciplined and this is a great read.

The next one is think and grow rich. Great ideas, great principles. What can you do to get rich? How can you change your mindset? How can you think the right thoughts to get rich? This is one. Then the next one, the science of getting rich by Wallace D. Wle. This is my absolute favorite because a lot of us think that, you know, I don't want to get rich. I'm satisfied. I'm a spiritual person. Why to run after money? This book is going to teach you that even if you're very spiritual, you should definitely make a lot of money. It's your responsibility. The fourth book is success principles by Jack Canfield. Why I love this book? This will teach you not just how to become successful but how to maintain your success because sometimes when you get successful it can get in your head and then you can lose everything. So this will teach you how to get successful and also to maintain that success. And last but not the least, the fifth book is Think Simple by Ken Seagel. Love it because this is all about simplicity. how simple ideas can create pathbreaking products. It can actually create a revolution. So the power of simplicity. So amazing book. So I hope you're going to read these five books and definitely don't forget to read book number three both important.

Thank you so much. I hope you're going to read now.
