hello everyone come on in hi guys on instagram and facebook i have two two cameras right here so if i look a little wonky wonky eyed you'll know it's because i'm looking at two cameras so i'm here because i recently made an announcement that i was letting go of one of my staff people and i stated it publicly very simply that i'm no longer associated with this staff person and withdraw any recommendation and uh people were confused and thought it was political or you know and it's not it's not uh i wish life was that simple and i stated that because i felt morally responsible to my community to let them know that somebody who was associated with me is no longer associated with me and they can now continue that relationship at their own will but without my endorsement and i felt i needed to protect my community with this information for a reason and there is no slander involved there's no defamation involved there is just information and as a public figure

i have to let people know who is no longer with me that was originally thought to be with me so it's my responsibility and that's all i have done and of course people want to know why and of course people want to know the details but it's nobody's business and this is where we have to rise above our own need for uh gossip our own needs for rumors and stay in our own lane and all that i needed and was obligated to tell my community was what i said and i don't need to say anything more and this is where we need to have discipline we need to have wisdom we need to have compassion and we need to release the need to know when it's not our business to know all we need to know is the is-ness it is this is what happened

this person is no longer here not the reasons behind it or the why that's only pure speculation and i don't want anyone to speculate so i'm here to tell you that it was not an easy decision it was a heartbreaking decision uh i never do anything with uh with rancor or resentment it's all out of deep heartbreak and being made to do something with no choice so there's only love there's only beauty there's only cause and effect and sometimes our consciousnesses are the leaders of the causes and effects in our lives so whatever our consciousness is it's set forth it sets forth a series of causes and effects and no human being is responsible for that outside of ourselves only we are responsible for our own causes and effects and each person needs to take accountability for their own causes and effects so nobody does anything to anyone at the end of the day each one has to take responsibility my responsibility to my community as a public figure was to let you know that this person who was a person on my team is no longer associated with me nor with my recommendation it is my duty to let you know once i know if i don't know i don't know but once i know i feel like if there is due reason i must protect my community now it's up to my community to decide if to to trust or not that's everyone's free will but i don't need to give reasons and no one who doesn't anyone who doesn't know doesn't know for a reason it's not their business so i just want to comment on this as a human phenomenon because it was fascinating for me to see the comments in the comment section that people are making up rumors and they're thinking it's this or that so this is really a viral wisdom lesson to everyone when we don't know there's a reason we don't know and when we don't know we have to stay in the unknown and be willing to stay there i don't know because i am humble enough to know it's not my place to know number one i don't know and it's okay not to know it's okay to stay in the unknown we don't ask people to tell us if they're not telling us out of sovereign freedom next lesson if we don't know we have to discipline our minds to stay in the is-ness of the unknown not knowing is not a signal to the mind to say let's have a party and pretend we know maybe it's this maybe it's the purple porcupine in the sky maybe it's the bad omelettes she ate today no people we recognize the is-ness of the i don't know and we stay in the i don't know we don't even have to take sides we just go she's informing us thank you i am now duly informed and i will make my own free choices from now on we don't start a rumor mill of oh is it this is it that who is right who is wrong no so it has been fascinating for me and it was time for me to come on and give a lesson because i'm like let me teach these people something out of love and humor that no we we stay in our lane i did my job by letting the community know the is-ness of a situation end of story i didn't put drama i didn't put speculation i didn't put adjectives i didn't put heartbreak pain joy sadness nothing it is what it is now those who need to know more in my community will know more but people who are just on my facebook or instagram page without more deep ties into my history or my community don't need to know so if you are one of those people that don't know there's a reason you don't know and it's okay to not know and you're not meant to know now stay in the unknown-ness i don't know is the wisest place to be we know when we are wise when we're okay being in the i don't know the i don't know is a is there for a reason there's a reason when things are left unsaid there is a reason when we don't know what we're not meant to know we're not meant to know uh what's out there in the galaxy beyond a certain point because it is not in our jurisdiction so we stay in our lane we take care of our consciousness and we just handle what's in our own consciousness curiosity is good for our own consciousness if you're curious be curious about yourself about why you want to know what you're not meant to know curiosity is a beautiful thing but gossip is not mongering is not uh fear-mongering threats taking sides blame none of that that's why i have participated in none of that this is not anybody's business beyond whose business it is and every single human being will have to look in the mirror at their own consciousness and take accountability for what they have done and it has nothing to do with me or you each one of us will answer to our own causes and effects brought upon by our own consciousness nobody is a victim of any other human being they are only a victim of their own consciousness now i'm not talking about when people have been raped and pillaged and wronged done then there are victims but do we stay in victimized consciousness and our typical tendency when we don't want to look in the mirror is to enter victim consciousness because we can't see our own cracks and our own brokenness so it's very normal and natural to point the finger this is what i teach parents don't point the finger at your children look at yourself look at your own projection look at your own delusions look at your own brokenness so this is our time to use this small little lesson that somebody put a post about just an announcement and everybody lost their because we come from brokenness we want to be filled and i'm not going to fill that for you because it's if you're meant to know you will know so i need you to understand that whatever led to me making that announcement came from infinite cause and effect brought upon by many consciousnesses some that are out of my control and i can only respond to the best of my consciousness but everybody else's consciousness will answer to their own consciousness and to their own cause and effect i am not responsible for other people's consciousness i'm only responsible for my own this is my humble lesson in life as a wisdom teacher i try to help every human raise their level of consciousness but i am learning slowly that i can only really raise my own and for those who are true seekers they will learn when they need to so people let's move on it is what it is we have love in our hearts and we have a mission to help others and to serve the the community now during people who are distressed because of kovit people who are hurt because of kova let's focus on that and i will continue my mission to help where help is wanted and to help parents all around the world and my focus is to help those who wish to raise their consciousness no more i'm not here for gossip i'm not here for drama i'm only here to help those who wish to raise consciousness so thank you can we move on and uh no more asking questions where they are not meant to be answered stay in the unknown and be okay in the power of the unknown bye bye everybody thank you for listening to me bye-bye facebook i will see you when i see you
