(gentle music) - Thanks for being on "Dad Saves America." This was an incredible conversation.

- Thank you. I really enjoyed our conversation. - John, thank you for coming on the show. Thanks, Mike. - Yeah, thank you. This was awesome. - Thank you, Martin. - My pleasure. - Thanks a lot. - All right. Hi, I'm John Papola, host of "Dad Saves America." On behalf of the whole team here that makes this channel possible, I wanna wish you and your family a happy Thanksgiving.

As we approach the 10-month mark since we posted our first videos here, I wanted to say how grateful I am for you, our viewers, who've returned to the channel week after week. A special thanks goes out to our subscribers, especially those of you who've turned on those notifications. It's exciting to see an emerging community of dads and moms engaged with our content. Even though our priority is reaching dads, anyone and everyone who cares about the future of our country is welcome to this conversation.

We want to empower dads not just for our own sake but for our kids, our families, and our communities. We strive to educate and entertain, but our goal isn't just to share what our guests or I think. We hope to inspire our audience to go out there and make the world a better place. That's what success looks like to us. If our videos speak to you, please share them with your friends and family, Thanksgiving is a perfect time.

Just try not to start any arguments at the table. I look forward to hearing from you all in the comments section in the months to come. Honest feedback is not just welcome but encouraged. It's what allows us to get better at serving you, our audience. Finally, I'll leave you with some of my favorite moments of gratitude from the past 10 months. Happy Thanksgiving! Warren, thank you for coming on the show. - Thank you. It's a real pleasure.
